Von M. Malone : Finn (Blue-Collar Billionaires #2) (English Edition) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Finn (Blue-Collar Billionaires #2) (English Edition):

Overall o.k, but I had some issuesVon readerI enjoyed reading the first book of this series "Tank", but not so much "Finn".The story line was interesting getting revenge on the ex-girlfriend who is building a cleaning service with her friends. But the execution was not. I was struggling with finding the situation believable. Although it is fiction the storyline and the circumstances must somehow be logical and comprehensible. What I did not like:Spoiler- Finn immediately falls for her again and so does she, then they have an on-off-relationship.- It did not become clear whether Rissa was divorced or just living separate from her husband. What was the deal with his/her house, owned or rented?- No wonder her company is close to bankruptcy when Rissa does not send out bills for extra cleaning hours. I cannot believe none of three women cares for a business plan. They got more money than expected from cleaning Finn's building that should keep them afloat.(...With the amount of money from this deal...we won't have to worry about that for a long time/chapter 2). So why do they worry at the end of the book?- Not much interaction with the billionaire father. I especially liked those scenes in the first book.SpoilerendeSome chapters start with good intentions (moving in discharged soldiers, getting to know the youngest brother) but then are not carried on. I still don't know whether I will continue reading this series.

Kurzbeschreibung~ Now a USA TODAY bestselling book! ~ Finn Marshall survived several tours in Afghanistan before the billionaire father he barely remembers changed everything. Now he has it all: money, cars and most importantly: power. Power to track down the woman who left him for a richer man. Marissa Blake dragged herself out of poverty one client at a time, so she's thrilled when her company, Maid-4-U, gets a huge contract for a luxury penthouse. Until she sees who owns it. Now to save her struggling business, Finn demands everything she once promised him. Money can't buy him happiness but it can buy him one thing: REVENGEExcerptMy patience finally snaps. After working for the past two hours straight, my back is screaming and my feet hurt. I want to smack that grin right off his face, contract be damned. "You know what, no. You are paying me to clean. You want to trash your own apartment just to get back at me, real mature by the way, that's fine. You want to make me pick up your skanky girlfriend's underwear and show off how many Magnum condoms you've used in the past few days, that's fine too. But I'm not some dog that you can snap your fingers at and expect me to follow. I may work for you but you don't own me." His eyes burn as he steps forward. "Oh yes I do. I didn't write that contract to buy a cleaning lady. I did it to buy you. For the next six months between the hours of eight and twelve, you are mine." I'm so frustrated that his harsh words bring tears to my eyes. I hate that I cry when I'm angry. I want to be strong and yell back at him but this kind of fury makes me feel very small. "I am not yours. I'm not anybody's." He stalks forward again and I instinctively shrink away. He doesn't seem to notice. He rests his forehead against mine, the harsh rasp of his breath hitting my cheek. When he pulls me closer, I am too stunned to protest. "You are mine just as much as I am yours. This hold you've had on me has gone on too long. You walked away from me but when you left you took a part of me with you. I haven't been able to sleep without you walking in and out of my dreams. I can't close my eyes without feeling your presence. You're always with me. I can't live like this anymore." His lips feather over my forehead and the frustration I feel morphs into a different kind of ache altogether. Maybe this is part of his plan, to hold me the way he used to and make me feel all the things that no other man has ever made me feel. "You want revenge for the way I treated you. I know that. And you won't believe me but I am truly sorry for the way I left things. You deserved so much more than that. So much better than me. It's better if I assign someone else to come here so we don't have to see each other. It's just hurting us both." He looks down at me. "If you do that I will void the contract and tie you up in court so long you'll go bankrupt just from all the legal fees. Don't push me on this, Rissa. You have no idea how far I'm willing to go." "Is this really what you want? It's not healthy for you to keep all this anger inside. You have to move on." "That's just it angel, I can't move on until my heart accepts the true nature of who you are. A girl who could ditch me for a richer guy and not look back. But the only way that'll happen is if I spend time with you. So you are going to go where I need you to go. You are going to talk to me. And I am going to purge you from my fucking system or I'll destroy us both trying." Download and start reading FINN now!
