sixteen year old Dawn has a new chance at life. Her past behind her, she heads to a prestigious arts school in New York City. Unfortunately, when she gets there, her reputation has already been tainted by her spiteful grandmother, who sent the owner of the house she was boarding at a letter filled with malicious lies about Dawn. This makes Dawn more determined to prove her grandmother wrong and stay on the right path. Unfortunately, Dawn meets her singing teacher, Michael Sutton, and her life begins to spin out of control. This book is confusing if you don't read DAWN first. I enjoyed this book, but it makes many references to its prequel. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Extremely GOOD! Von Ein Kunde This was an excellent book. I have to agree with some of the other reviewers that V.C. books are very similar. But hey don't mess with success right! I loved the whole Sutton affair very dramatic and romantic! This whole book was just masterfully written it had so many different elements to tie you in! The only thing that bothered me was this, did any of you guys notice that they spelled the school's name two different ways throughout the book, Bernhart and Bernhardt! A little weird but a little typo like that is worth overlooking for this masterful tale! Make sure you read Dawn first though! 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Not quite a morning glory Von Ein Kunde Worth reading to see what happens to Dawn, but I've gotta agree with some of the reviewers of this novel- Dawn was a victim (once again) but that's not so unusual, every character in a VCA novel is victimized at one point or another, what I didn't like was when she just seemed to whimper alone without defending herself. Pitiful! And she even wanted Michael back after what he did to her. However, she redeemed herself in Twilight's Child (Check out my review there) and I loved the romance she and Michael shared- right up to the end.

Kurzbeschreibung Shadowed by her tortured past, Dawn has a bright new life of glimmering hopes... Dawn can hardly believe she's a student at one of New York City's best music schools. Now her most precious wish, to become a singer, can come true. But Dawn still dreams about Jimmy, her strong, intense boyfriend, and the love and anguished secrets they share. Then Michael Sutton arrives, a new teacher at the school, a singing star and the most wonderful looking man Dawn has ever seen. Together they create a world of feeling Dawn has never known. In his embrace Dawn awakens to disturbing, unfamiliar desires, and Michael's promises offer a vision of music and romance forever... until he disappears. Dazed by his cruelty, alone with the bitter fruit of his betrayal, Dawn becomes, once again, a victim of her grandmothers twisted schemes. Desolate, she clings to the tender hope that Jimmy will return and renew with her their deepest hearts' dream...
